ACCOMMODATION AND MEAL PLAN OPTIONS

International students can stay in hostels or they can opt for private rental accommodation.

Hostels are not as affordable as halls of residence/dormitories, however, for those international students who have not rented an apartment prior to their arrival in Skopje, staying at a hostel while looking for a room/flat/house to rent is highly recommended. There are many hostels in or near the city centre and their prices range from 7 to 15 Euros per bed per night.

Since the University has 4 campuses around the city, in order to choose the hostel close to your faculty, it is best to consult sites such as www.hostels.com or www.booking.com.

Although more expensive, private accommodation is the most convenient yet affordable solution for the majority of students. The rent for a studio is between 80 and 120 Euros per month, whereas a bigger flat may cost between 130 and 200 Euros. The rent does not include utilities (heating, electricity, cable TV, the Internet, water, garbage disposal, etc.), which range from 50 to 150 EUR per month, depending primarily on the size of the flat, the type of heating and the number of occupants).

You can purchase a meal plan and have one, two or three meals a day in one of the student canteens. Each faculty has a student canteen. Meals are available to all students, including foreign citizens.

The Republic of North Macedonia is situated in the central part of the Balkan Peninsula, with an area of 25,713 square kilometres bordering on Serbia to the north, Kosovo to the north-west, Greece to the south, Bulgaria to the east and Albania to the west. Due to such a geographic location, the Republic of North Macedonia is and has been an important crossroads of many different civilisations, religions and cultures throughout history.

According to the last census in the Republic of North Macedonia live around two million people. Skopje, the capital of the Republic of North Macedonia, is the biggest political, economical, educational and cultural centre. North Macedonia is predominantly a mountainous country with a great number of exceptional natural treasures and beauties. In North Macedonia there are 34 peaks rising to over 2,000 metres and rich in vegetation. The mountains and mountain ranges are hatched by many valleys and plains. The influences of the Mediterranean and the Continental Climate positively affect the high fertility of the cultivated land and the development of cattle breeding as well as the development of both winter and summer tourism. North Macedonia is a country of lakes of extraordinary natural beauty that offer favourable conditions for the development of tourism. In its southern part there are three large tectonic lakes: Ohrid, Prespa and Dojran. Their outstanding natural environment and numerous recreation facilities make them recognised tourist centres. On its territory there are 15 reservoirs and 25 glacial lakes situated in the highest parts of mountain massifs formed during the Ice Age. The winter sport centres: Popova [apka, Bistra-Mavrovo, Krushevo, Pelister, Ponikva and Golak, with their picturesque terrains suitable for winter sports, are very famous.

North Macedonia has a very extensive and ancient cultural heritage. Because of the great number of archaeological sites dating from the antique times, North Macedonia has every right to be called - a magical land of archaeology. North Macedonia also has a significant number of monasteries and churches that are masterpieces of the ancient constructors, icon painters, fresco painters and wood carvers. The monasteries of St. John of Bigor, - near Gostivar; Marko's Monastery; St. Panteleimon - near Skopje; the Monastery of Lesnovo, St. Nahum of Ohrid - near Ohrid; St. Sofia, Ohrid, and the churches of the Holy Salvation, Skopje; St. George the Archangel, the village of Kurbinovo, are only some of the numerous monasteries and churches. The Ottoman Empire has also left its marks on this territory with a great number of mosques, baths and market. places.

Here, in North Macedonia, there is a tradition of the preservation of Macedonian folklore, which is very rich and diverse and reflects the spirit and the way of life of the people of North Macedonia.

SKOPJE (Skopje - Wikipedia)

Skopje, the capital of the Republic of North Macedonia, has a population of less than a million. It is in the central part of the Balkan Peninsula, and it is an important crossroads on routes to the Aegean and Adriatic seas. The Vardar, the longest river in North Macedonia with a course of water current over 400 kilometres, flows through Skopje.

Ss. Cyril and Methodius University in Skopje

In ancient times, Skopje, then known under the name of Skupi, was the chief town that later fell under Roman control. In 518 it was completely destroyed by a severe earthquake. With the coming of the Slavs in 695, the city experienced a significant growth and gained its present name of Skopje. In the 10th century, it became a part of Samoil's Empire and an important centre of transport and trade. Until the 15th century, and the Ottoman conquest, it changed its masters several times.

After the Second World War, Skopje developed rapidly and gained the physiognomy of a modern metropolis. But this accelerated development was interrupted by the catastrophic earthquake of July 26th, 1963. Thanks to the solidarity of the former Yugoslav republics and the international community as well, Skopje grew again into an important economic, political, educational and cultural centre.

Skopje, as a centre of culture, education and science, is the home of the Ss. Cyril and Methodius University, the Macedonian Academy of Sciences and Arts, numerous cultural institutions, museums, libraries, etc.

In Skopje there is a large number of important cultural and historical monuments such as the Kale fortress, the Stone Bridge, the Daut Pasha Hammam, the Church of the Holy Salvation, the Old Bazaar, the archaeological site of Skupi with its ancient theatre, the monasteries of St. Panteleimon, St. Nikita, St. Andrew, Marko's Monastery, etc.

CLIMATE

Mild climate is characterized by moderately hot summers and moderately cold winters as well as significant annual rainfall.

The most precise weather forecast for Skopje can be found at the Hydrometeorological Service website <https://uhmr.gov.mk/>
